DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 4-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claims contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventors, at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. In claim 4, for example, there is no clear support in the original specification for having a "predetermined salt and nitrite concentration and to "simultaneously" inject the meat as recited. This is a new matter rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 4-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Prosenbauer (US 4,286,510). Prosenbauer discloses a meat injection apparatus including a horizontal conveyor (4) for intermittently longitudinally moving meat products to be injected, a plurality of injection heads (8) located over the conveyor, wherein the plurality of injection heads form a single injection zone, a bank of vertically disposed injection needles (7) on each head (Fig. 3), a plurality of fluid reservoirs (20) in fluid flow communication with the heads (8) and the needles (7) therein to supply source of brine fluid to the needles, the banks of needles being capable of moving downwardly to inject meat (see Column 4, lines 17-19), each bank of needles being connected to first and second reservoir means, and each reservoir means being capable of containing brines of different concentrations. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have simultaneously injected a meat product in Prosenbauer as the meat product advances on the conveyor into an injection zone where the plurality of injection heads (8) are located in order to inject a large piece of meat, if desired.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to the claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new grounds of rejection.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new grounds of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
